Guyana:* draft resolution

United Nations Institute for Training and Research

The General Assembly,

Recalling its resolutions 48/207 of 21 December 1993, 49/125 of 19 December 1994, 50/121 of 20 December 1995, 51/188 of 16 December 1996, 52/206 of 18 December 1997 and 53/195 of 15 December 1998,

Having considered the report of the Secretary-General concerning training institutions and training programmes within the United Nations[1] and the reflections of the Board of Trustees of the United Nations Institute for Training and Research on the development and possible reforming of the Institute,[2]

Welcoming the efforts for the consolidation of the restructuring process of the Institute and the recent progress made by the Institute in its various programmes and activities, including the improved cooperation that has been established with other organizations of the United Nations system and with regional and national institutions,

Expressing appreciation to the Governments and private institutions that have made or pledged financial and other contributions to the Institute,

Noting that contributions to the General Fund of the Institute have not increased along with the increased participation of the developed countries in the training programmes, and underlining the need to address urgently this discrepancy,

Reiterating that training activities should be accorded a more visible and larger role in support of the management of international affairs and in the execution of the economic and social development programmes of the United Nations system,

* On behalf of the States Members of the United Nations that are members of the Group of 77 and China.

1. Reaffirms the importance of a coordinated United Nations system-wide approach to research and training, and underlines the need for United Nations training and research institutions to avoid duplication in their work;

2. Reaffirms also the relevance of the United Nations Institute for Training and Research, in view of the growing importance of training within the United Nations and the training requirements of States, and the relevance of research activities related to training undertaken by the Institute within its mandate;

3. Stresses the need for the Institute to strengthen further its cooperation with other United Nations institutes and relevant national, regional and international institutes;

4. Welcomes the progress made in building partnerships between the Institute and other agencies and bodies of the United Nations system with respect to their training programmes and, in this context, underlines the need to develop further and expand the scope of these partnerships, particularly at the country level;

5. Requests the Board of Trustees to continue to attract experts from developing countries and countries with economies in transition for the preparation of the relevant training materials for the programmes and activities of the Institute, and stresses that the Institute's courses should primarily focus on development issues;

6. Renews its appeal to all Governments, in particular those of developed countries, and to private institutions that have not yet contributed financially or otherwise to the Institute to give it their generous financial and other support, and urges the States that interrupted their voluntary contributions to consider resuming them in view of the successful restructuring and revitalization of the Institute;

7. Encourages the Board of Trustees of the United Nations Institute for Training and Research to continue its efforts to address the gap between the decline in contributions to the General Fund of the Institute and the increased participation in its programmes;

8. Also encourages the Board of Trustees to consider organizing events of the Institute at additional sites, particularly the cities hosting regional commissions;

9. Requests the Secretary-General, in consultation with the Institute and with United Nations funds and programmes, to continue to explore ways and means systematically to utilize the Institute in the execution of training and capacity-building programmes;

10. Also requests the Secretary-General to consider reclassification of the post of Executive Director, to make the level commensurate with the qualifications and increasing responsibilities required, and underlines the need to ensure continuity in the management of the Institute;

11. Renews its call to the Secretary-General to continue to explore all possible ways and means to provide additional facilities to the Institute for maintaining its offices and for conducting programmes and training courses that are provided at no cost to States and to their representatives accredited to United Nations Offices in New York, Nairobi, Geneva and Vienna;

12. Requests the Secretary-General to report to the General Assembly at its fifty-fifth session on the implementation of the present resolution.
